THE CHARLESTON WRECKED

United States Cruiser Stranded on the Reefs off Luzon

QUITE A FIERCE ENGAGEMENT

At Jacinto in Which 77 Filipinos are Killed—Americans Lost 7 Killed and 29 Wounded.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM

Manila, Nov 14—The United States cruiser Charleston, which had been patrolling the northern coast of Luzon, was wrecked off the northwest coast of the island Tuesday, Nov. 7. All on board were saved. The crew numbered 380. As far as is known, nobody was injured. Not until today the news reached here causing great excitement The admirality has sent a boat to investigate the disaster and bring back the ship's officers and crew. Only the bare fact of the wreck was learned. It is not even known whether it was total.

LATER REPORT.

Manila, Nov. 15—The Charleston ran aground upon a hidden reef near Vigan. The crew worked the machinery for two days and nights trying to get off, but a typhoon arising compelled them to take to the boats. They took refuge upon a small island five miles away.

FIERCE ENGAGEMENT.

San Fabain, Nov. 11 (delayed)—Wheaton's advance force, proceeding eastward to join Hinds and Lawton, met an insurgent force at San Jacinto, five miles south of here, today. The enemy was routed after a fierce engagement, the Filipinos losing 77 killed. The Thirty-third regiment, which led the attack, lost 7 killed, including one officer. Fifteen were wounded. Twenty-nine rebels and fourteen rifles were captured.

MAJOR LOGAN DEAD.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 14—A private telegram from Manila states that Major John A. Logan, Jr, is dead.

WHERE'S AGUINALDO?

Manila, Nov. 14—The whereabouts of Aguinaldo and his cabinet is an enigma. Ois has learned that Aguinaldo recently issued a proclamation transferring the capital to Begombong, because Tarlac is unhealthy. It is suspected that if the insurgent leaders are not already Begombong they are retiring there. It is hoped that Wheaton has joined Young and is forming a cordon from San Fabian to San Isodro. A majority of the natives welcome the American army enthusiastically. Some hide in swamps, and the women, unable to flee, fall to their knees, clasping a crucifix, and beg for mercy

KILLED LEADING A BATTALION.

Washington, Nov. 14 The war department has received a dispatch stating that Logan was killed while leading a battalion across the country His body will be brought back on the transport Sikh

NATIVES FRIENDLY.

Washington, Nov. 14—Watson cables that the Charleston wreck was unchanged upon the coral reef on the morning of the 2nd. Everybody was safely landed on Kamigula Island, armed with rifles and two Colts. The natives are friendly.

MURDER IN SECOND DEGREE.

Is the Verdict of the Jury Against Reed and Cobler.

Special to the TELEGRAM.

Winston-Salem, Nov. 14.—Argument of counsel in the case against Tom Reed and Bob Cobler for killing Dee Brinkley here on the night of September 13th, was concluded at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and Judge Stevens charged the jury, reciting all the evidence to them. The jury retired about 4 p. m., and at 11 o'clock this morning returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree against both Reed and Cobler.

Tom Hudson, who was arrested on the same charge, was released last Saturday afternoon after all the evidence had been heard.

When court convened this afternoon Judge Stevens pronounced sentence upon the prisoners, giving Reed 8 years in the state penitentiary and Cobler 6 years.

An appeal was taken to the superior court.

LITERARY MEETING.

Centenary Epworth League Spent a Profitable Evening.

One of the most interesting literary meetings the Epworth League of Centenary Methodist church has held in a long time, was the one held in the church last evening, when several carefully prepared papers were read on the beautiful life and remarkable career of Rt. Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, the most learned and distinguished statesman of the nineteenth century.

There was a large attendance of members and friends, who listened with great interest to the rendition of the following program:

Music—Chorus.
Paper—Gladstone's Biography
Paper—His Political Career
Music—Chorus.
Paper—His Important Reforms.
Paper—Gladstone Literature.
Selection—"Gladstone's Knowledge."
Paper—His Characteristics.
Music—Duett.

Vick's Little Liver Pills keep the family well. 25c. Never gripe.

KRUGER'S BACK UP.

If the English Shoot His Friend He Will Retaliate Six-fold.

By Cable to the TELEGRAM.

Cape Town, Nov. 14—One of the Boer leaders, a close friend of Kruger, has been arrested at Ladysmith as a spy. As soon as informed of his arrest, Kruger telegraphed Joubert to shoot six British officers from among the prisoners if Marks is shot. Under instructions from Kruger, Joubert sent a copy of this order to Gen. White.

BOMBARDMENT CONTINUES.

Estecourt, Nov. 14—The Boers are evidently anticipating the British plan of relieving White. They have broken up the railroad below Colenso and are gathering in large numbers south of Ladysmith. It is unknown whether the Taylor river bridge at Colenso was destroyed or not. It is probably mined The heavy bombardment continues at Ladysmith. Estcourt's defenses are being constantly strengthened, but it is not believed the Boers will attack the town.

FIRING CEASED.

London, Nov. 14.—A dispatch from Kimberly of the 6th says:

"The Boers ceased firing at the town last evening. The bombardment was maintained throughout yesterday at irregular intervals. Seventy shells were fired, the majority falling into dust heaps in the open spaces on the outskirts of the place. The average range was 8,360 yards. The only damage in Kimberly was the destruction of a cooking pot, pieces of which afterwards sold as souvenirs. Two sovereigns were paid for choice specimens. The Boers were evidently shelling the town with extreme range guns."

THE BATH.

That Important Ceremony is too Often Rushed Through.

This is the time o' year when our cold bath begins to feel as if it were living up to its name, so it may not be amiss to speak a bit upon the subject. First of all, a cold bath as many suppose is not necessarily water as it comes from the faucet. In point of fact it is any bath of a temperature below 80 degrees. Strange as it may seem some people far from strong have been driven to plunging into icy water just because some other person sang the praises of the cold bath so loudly and persistently.

The people who in case of illness used fairly to shrink at the thought or mention of a bath are even getting educated. Not that great care isn't necessary! Indeed, it is in all bathing, and the bath thermometer should be used by both sick and well Of course an invalid is only bathed according to the physician's instructions. The bath is a boon. Any one who has tossed and turned in nervous unrest knows the soothing powers of the sponge bath. Each part must be sponged and dried thoroughly and covered. The arms and legs in turn, then the back, then the chest, and then the abdomen. This, with ice on the head, will even quiet delirium.

As for our ordinary, every day bathing we must decide which gives us the best results. A hot bath is least injurious taken on going to bed They are weakening, howe er, and should not be too often indulged in; perhaps one a week. A hot bath means a temperature of 100 or 110 degrees. A warm bath means anything from 90 to 100, tepid ranges from 80 to 90, while the cold is anything below 80. Never stay in over 15 or 20 minutes; ten is enough for most of us.

The morning is the best time for the daily bath, and those who find the plunge or the shower bath too much for them, should consider the sponge bath.

Many who are exhausted or chilled by other sorts of baths would find this a splended tonic. It is more work though.

We do not consider these things enough, and are prone to forget that bathing is of an importance on a par with our food.

Above all let us take the sort of bath which is most beneficial —Philadelphia Record.

Expert Hunters.

A well known hunting party left here this morning for their annual hunting and camping expedition. They will pitch their tents in the neighborhood of Benaja and will be absent about a week or ten days. The party this year is composed of Messrs. William Simpson and Chas. Tate, of this city, and Tom and Myers Pegram, of Charlotte.

John Barker, who has heretofore been commander-in-chief and commissary general, is prevented from joining the party on account of his accident several weeks ago, in which he suffered a broken leg.

Captain E. L Gilmer is a member of this combine, but he is now in search of larger game in the Philippines.

Mabel Paige.

Marshall's Musical Comedy Co. presented "The Little Cadet" to a large audience at the Academy of Music last night.

"The Little Cadet" is a combination of music and comedy and dramatic situations well calculated to please the varied tastes of the public, and was presented in a careful and painstaking manner by this up-to-date company.

Tonight the bill will be "Miss Juliette," a comedy in 3 acts. It is said to show Miss Paige in an entirely new role. Tomorrow afternoon at the matinee will be presented "A Bachelor's Dilemma."

TALK ABOUT JUDGE EWART.

It's Hoped the Matter Won't be Brought Before the Senate

THE SITUATION IN KENTUCKY

Not Pleasing to Either Democrats or Republicans—Congressmen at Washington.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Nov. 14—It looks as if very soon there would be an end to the case of Judge Ewart. It is reported that the judge is considering withdrawing as a candidate for the federal judgeship, and that at the beginning of the coming session of congress he will not seek a re-nomination from President McKinley. Judge Ewart has already been twice nominated for this office, and each time his nomination has been held up through the influence of Senator Butler, and consequently he has failed to secure confirmation. In spite of the grave charges made by Senator Butler, and the opponents of the judge, President McKinley has twice given him recess appointments, and he is now holding a commission of this character. When congress meets, however, this commission will expire. It is said by those who are in a position to know that the president may not feel called upon to continue the contest with the senate over this judgeship, even if Judge Ewart should seek a renomination next winter. In addition to this, it is said on good authority that at the last session of congress, when it became apparent that the senate would reject the nomination, if a vote was taken on it, that Mr. Ewart appealed to his friends to prevent him from falling under an adverse vote, promising that if the nomination was held up until the end of the session that he would withdraw as a candidate at the coming session.

Senator Pritchard, in spite of the fire of the opposition to Judge Ewart, has remained firm in his support of the president. Originally the senator did not favor the nomination of Ewart, but after the nomination was made he gave it his hearty support, and has personally led the fight for confirmation. If Judge Ewart should remain a candidate, there is no doubt but the senator would continue to support him, and fight for confirmation by the senate.

North Carolina people in Washington are convinced that Judge Ewart, if nominated by the president, will not stand any more show in the Senate than he did last winter, and therefore they think it would be unwise for the president to prolong a needless contest which has long since exhausted the patience of the Senate. Judge Ewart personally has many friends in Washington who believe that he has been a victim of political abuse from his own party, but at the same time the vast majority of North Carolina people believe that a person appointed to a judgeship should be a man who can command the support of every one, and that above all his personal character should be above reproach.

The Kentucky situation is not pleasing to either the republican or democratic members of congress who are in Washington. Most of the democrats, outside of Kentucky, would not have cared much had Goebel been defeated by a majority so large as would have effectually killed Goebel and Goebelism politically. As it is the fear is expressed by many democrats that the bitterness engendered during the campaign will not be entirely effaced before the campaign next year. No doubt is felt but that Bryan can carry the state by a large majority next year, but at the same time they feel that the manner in which the silver leader has been mixed in the unpleasant situation in the Blue-grass state may render him weaker than he otherwise would be.

Republicans in the city generally believe that their party carried Kentucky, but they express doubts as to whether Gen. Taylor is seated in the event of a contest before the state legislature.

Ex-Senator William Pitt Kellogg, of Louisiana, is in the city. He has been through the state of Kentucky, and in speaking of the situation in that state he said that he had no doubt that Taylor was elected governor. It is his opinion, however, that the election will be carried to the legislature, and that Goebel will win on a contest.

Representative Jones, of Virginia, has returned to Washington. Mr. Jones says that the situation politically is all that can be wished for by the democrats He is much pleased at the success of the party in carrying Maryland and Nebraska. In the other states, the campaigns, he says, were fought on state and personal issues, national issues not entering the contests to any great extent.

Star service has been established in Virginia as follows: Medley to Salem; Perdue to Fagg, and Leonis to Mallory.

The post office department has been informed that the postoffice at Rose has been moved from Alamance county into Chatham county.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told

TELEGRAM BUREAU,
HIGH POINT, N. C., Nov 14

J H Wootten of Randleman, was here yesterday.

J. W. McAlister came up from Worthville Monday.

Fred Jones left this morning on a business trip of several days to Winston.

J. G. F. Randolph, of the bean-eating city—Boston—was in the city last evening.

H. L. Adams, Oscar Lewis and P. F. Kelly, of Charlotte, were guests of this city yesterday.

Dr. Turner and Samuel Coffin were homeward-bound passengers on the 7:12 local last night.

P. D. Christian and Tom Clairborne represented the "city of hills"—Lynchburg—here yesterday

Hargreaves Heap represented one of the capitals of Rhode Island—Providence—here yesterday.

A neat and convenient table has been added to the telegraph office for the use of the operators.

Miss Abbie White, of Thomasville who has been visiting Miss Nellie Rankin, returned home last evening.

Arthur Ross, of Randleman, was here last night en route to Fort Scott, Kansas, to buy a drove of horses and mules.

The residence of Jno. Welborn, in the northeastern part of the city, is rapidly nearing completion. The roof is now being painted by F. J. Collins

Mabel Paige, the charming comedienne, supported by an excellent company, will appear at the opera house here Thursday night for a three nights' engagement. This is one of the strongest aggregations on the road.

Mrs. Davis and children, of near Danville, arrived last night to make High Point their future home. Mr. Davis, who is interested in the National Lounge and Bed Spring Co., of this place, will follow in a few days Mrs. Davis is a daughter of Capt W. E. Johns Glad to have them with us.

Mr. Whitmore, who for the past year has conducted a bakery, confectionery and fruit stand here, has disposed of his stock and will make Durham his future home. Mr. Whitmore, proprietor of the book store, bought his stock of confections. Sorry to lose the bakery, and especially Mr. Whitmore.

Last night some of our youthful citizens got it into their heads that the meteoric shower was scheduled to take place during the night and they insisted on shouting "rubber neck" at the passers-by. This is very old-fashioned. The proper thing to say is "promiscuous" which means to be coming to see you.

The great meteoric shower is expected from midnight until day on the morning of the 15th—tomorrow There may be a small shower early tonight, but the greater shower is expected after midnight. It will be worth your while to not retire until after 12 o'clock tonight, or you might miss seeing this illumination of the heavens which only occurs once every 33 years. We learn that the factory whistles will not give their notes of warning. However, if the shower does not come off as expected, you can look for it until the 18th.

Thursday Night.

Lovers of high class entertainment, musical and literary, are awaiting with pleasurable anticipation the coming of the Ideal Entertainers, an organization of distinguished artists presenting a program of unusual excellence and an entertainment which is refreshingly novel and original. While partaking very largely of a musical character, the performance is quite a radical departure from the ordinary concert program, and in fact is infinitely superior. How pleasingly diversified is the program may be realized from the varied qualifications of the artists engaged, the personnel being Marcella M. Klocks, dramatic soprano, Elizabeth MacKinstry, violinist, Caroline Conkling, dramatic reader and elocutionist, Aimee Collarius, solo pianist and accompanist, Helen Cushing, authoress and mezzo soprano, and Louis M. Vall, impersonator and baritone soloist. An attractive feature of the entertainment will be the presentation by Miss Cushing and Mr. Vall of the clever sketch, entitled "Honored," the work of the lady mentioned. See them at the Academy of Music on Thursday night, November 16th.

Wholesale Stealing.

There is at least two negroes in Greensboro who do not believe in doing things by half. About 10:30 last night when Walter Lewis passed the little thicket near the coal chute, he espied two negroes who were carrying suspicious packages. As he neared them they dropped their loads and fled. Upon examination Mr. Lewis found six sides of meat and two 50-pound cans of lard. He reported his find to Officer Pearce, who engaged a carriage and the meat and lard were placed in the freight depot. The goods were stolen from an unlocked box car which was on a siding near the coal chute The thieves have not been apprehended.

TUESDAY NOV. 14 1899.

GOOD TIMES COMING.

The Raleigh News and Observer says:

Thanks to the progressive men who have invested their money and brains in manufacturing enterprises in North Carolina, it is now possible for a man to furnish his house and get all that he wears and eats without going out of the state. The display of furniture at the recent State Fair shows that Grand Rapids cannot furnish better furniture than the manufacturing establishments of the state. Our cotton mills, woolen mills, knitting mills and hosiery mills furnish socks and wearing apparel and blankets that have a demand all over the county.

Our state is certainly rapidly coming to the front ranks in all lines. The fine progress we have made during the last few years in manufacturing industries, education—and politics—is indeed encouraging. But when we shall have built cotton factories enough to manufacture all the staple our farmers can grow—which is a consummation not far-distant; when we shall have built furniture and woodworking shops in sufficient numbers to create a state demand for all the timber that is taken from our forests; when our educational standard—which is in the midst of remarkable growth—shall have been raised to that point to which our able educators all over the state are working so faithfully to raise it; when we get these great benefits and blessings and when our farmers shall quit raising so much cotton and tobacco and grow more pigs and cows and chickens and sheep and hogs and cabbages and potatoes, etc, then if the meat-markets of Chicago, and the hay-fields of Kentucky, and the furniture and cotton manufactories of the north are swept away in a single night, we can smile, except as a matter of humanity.

Gen. Gomez is a bluff, plain and honest old war-horse, and in his disinterested patriotism reminds one of Nathaniel Macon, the early North Carolinian. He writes to La Lucha that he has seen with great pleasure the announcement of a project to raise funds to meet his personal needs, but that such a proposition would not do him honor in the execution and that he must beg leave to refuse the offer in advance. "This is not a time," he declares, "for Cubans to occupy themselves with the private concerns of any individual. When they become absolute masters of the island, which will be a glorious consummation, there will be opportunity to attend to personal matters."

The interesting news comes from the Philippines that Aguinaldo and his army have been surrounded, and that the rebel leader will hardly escape his pursuers this time. But the "penning up" of Aggy by our boys reminds one of the bow-legged fellow trying to hem a hog in a lane. At any rate, let's not bother our heads about inventing any kind of infernal machine by which to kill Aggy until we are sure we've got him tight and fast. Then leave the matter to Gen. Otis. With revenge born of baffled skill, and outwitted wit, he will kill poor Aggy.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC.

BY J. W. TILLINGHAST.

[All communications intended for this department should be sent to J. W. Tillinghast, 415 Eugene street.

All notices for publication should be handed in not later than 9 o'clock Monday.]

A gentleman said to me the other day, "Keep at it," meaning the work of writing about public school music, and, while that is exactly what I expected to do, it was gratifying to learn that I would have his support.

Yes, I shall continue to use the space put at my disposal by the Telegram in an effort to get for the children of Greensboro what I consider the most valuable musical opportunity that could possibly be given them, the opportunity to learn, at school, and without expense, to read music.

The sacred concert, given to an audience of twelve hundred people last Monday night at the West Market street church seems to have created quite a favorable impression upon the musical as well as the general public. While this fact must afford the promoters and participants much food for pleasant reflection, it is by far the least important aspect of the affair. When Fulton applied steam to navigation it was not the BOAT in which the application was made that was valuable to the world but the IDEA of using steam to propell a vessel. And so it is with the demonstration to the people of Greensboro of the possibilities of good music here with "home-raised" resources.

All praise to Dr. Wheeler and may he use his very evident ability as a conductor in frequent bringings together of the choral and orchestral elements of Greensboro. Such work is bound to make it's impress, a very wholesome impress, upon the musical conditions here.

Every now and then one hears in church a solo, in the rendering of which the singer is so evidently unconscious of self and so bent upon making the work a part of the worship and not a personal opportunity for display; and where the voice is so entirely free from any borrowed peculiarities or affected culture (?) marks that the hearing is a genuine pleasure. Especially is this true when, as I did on Sunday morning at West Market street church, one can distinguish the words in the gallery.

"Children are all born with the latent faculties of speech and song. Neither comes as a ready-made accomplishment. They must be drawn forth into expression. The child who is born deaf remains mute, because he hears no speech, and does not feel the necessary stimulus to excite his own latent faculty for language. So the child that is brought up in an unmusical atmosphere remains musically dumb."—Daniel Batchellor, in The Etude.

CORNER-STONE LAYING.

Rev. J. J. Worlds, of Raleigh, Conducts the Exercises.

Reported for The Telegram.

The laying of the corner-stone at the A. M E Zion church yesterday by the colored masons, was considered a very successful effort.

Rev. J. J. Worlds, of Raleigh, grand master, was associated by three other members of the grand lodge—President J. B. Dudley, grand secretary, Dr. J. E. Dellinger and Prof. J. H. M. Butler, deputy grand master. The local lodge was in attendance and rendered assistance.

The masons met as an occasional grand lodge at their hall in Warnersville, a large brick building owned by them. Led by the Third Regiment band, they marched to the church, where the ceremony of laying the corner-stone was performed. This consisted of singing the masonic ode, "Hail! Mysterious Masonry," the placing of the stone, containing copies of city papers, names of civic officers, religious and masonic documents.

The stone was tested by the use of the square, level and plumb and consecrated with corn, wine and oil. The grand master then declared the stone laid in due and ancient form.

President Dudley followed with an address on Freemasonry. He treated its universality and antiquity, tracing it from the most early times to the present day. He showed its connection with the rites or mysteries of ancient people, and gave a detailed account of its modern name, "Free and Accepted." Of colored masonry, he said that the first charter was given colored men in the Revolutionary war by the grand lodge of England. This lodge, with two others whose members were made in England, or received charters directly or indirectly from the mother grand lodge of masonry among English speaking people, established the African grand lodge. This, he contended, gives the colored masonry a legal standing. He exhorted the members of his craft to practice its teachings and exemplify its truths. His closing utterances were a brilliant tribute to the art and fraternity, whose teachings represented by symbols, binds the world into one brotherhood.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

Their Alliance Believed to Be Not Offensive.

London, Nov. 13—Especial dispatch from Shanghi says the differences between Russia and Japan have been accentuated by Japan's refusal to grant Russia a foothold on the sea front of Massampo harbor, Korea.

Careful inquiries made by the Associated Press reveals nothing extant in diplomatic circles here to justify the alarmist view taken by a section of the press regarding the situation in the far east. That a serious denouement is so close at hand as is indicated by advices from Shanghai during the last twenty-four hours is regarded as incredible.

For a long time it has been known here—and it was asserted in Associated Press dispatches two months ago—that China and Japan were closely allied, but neither British nor American diplomatists in London believe that this alliance is of an offensive nature.

At any rate it can be asserted positively that if Japan and China contemplate aggressive action against Russia, Lord Salisbury is not aware of their intention, and it is scarcely probable that those powers would decide upon any definite course without at least consulting Great Britain, who in the nature of things, would be their ally, whether active or passive.

The action of the United States government in requesting assurances from foreign governments regarding the "open door" policy in China has created intense satisfaction in British circles.

"Lord Salisbury," according to a British official, "has gladly acquiesced in this step on the part of the United States, which is regarded as most potent evidence that the United States recognizes the impossibility of conducting their foreign affairs without the co-operation of other nations and as the first practical earnest of their desire to conduct eastern negotiations in concert with European governments."

GERM CELLS OF LIFE.

THEY RETAIN VITALITY EVEN AFTER APPARENT DEATH.

A Startling Theory Showing That Instant Death Is an Impossibility and That We May Be Conscious For Some Time After Dissolution.

"You often meet with the phrase "death was instantaneous," and you believe it, but instant death is impossible.

A professor has been studying the subject, a man of renown in his own world, and he has discovered certain important data proving conclusively that no one can meet with instant death. He works out his theory on the data afforded by the physiology of cells. He states that no one yet has proved the difference between a dead and a live brain cell. When this has been done, then we can more easily ascertain how long a time elapses before the death of a cell takes place.

But, first, what is a cell? To be brief, both plants and animals—including, of course, man—are built up of units, elementary units, which you can only detect under the microscope. Now, each tiny cell is a vital elementary unit. We are nothing but highly developed results of the individual vitality of huge quantities of these fundamental cells.

As this is undeniably so, how is it possible, by simple decapitation, say, to cause instant death in the millions of cells which compose the brain? It is known that brain cells have their own cell life and are liable to live a certain time after they are cut off from outside nutrition without the supply of any blood whatever from the body. The nourishment is supplied inside the cell walls, and it can go on living after being cut off from other resources.

From this argument it is clear to the professor that these millions of cells in the brain must continue to live after death has apparently intervened—that is, when death appears, but only on the outside, to have been instantaneous.

After a man's leg is cut off, or an animal's, you can stimulate the nerves for a long time, but you cannot do it after the cells are dead. You cannot get any response at all.

Electricity has been thought to be the germ of life, but this is a fanciful theory when confronted with the new laws as by research established.

The countless millions of cells of which our bodies are entirely composed contain the germ of life, and it is impossible for these to be visited with an instantaneous unconsciousness.

You can take living cells from a pig's glands, and this same professor will demonstrate to you that after these glands have gone through their preparation the cells are still living.

But the curious fact remains that at present there are no data showing the supposed length of time it takes for the cells of the brain to empty themselves of the germ of consciousness or life, but it is certain that consciousness does not cease immediately after, say, a head has been cut off a body. The belief, however, is that at least four or five minutes must elapse ere death finally steps in to arrest life.

It has been noticed in the case of a decapitated head that the cheeks remain red for some minutes after the severance, a conclusive proof that the cells are living.

The heads of decapitated animals have continued to bite and snap at the air for three or four minutes after severance. This phenomenon is well marked in the head of a tortoise separated from the body. The life of the brain, therefore, must be retained for some time after the head is severed, from the very fact that, though being separated from the trunk, its nutritious blood and gases, taken from the fund stored up in the cells, are in sufficient quantity to carry on life, but for what exact period is unknown.

Do the brain cells die simultaneously? No, because they have their own individual cell life. Our scientific friend also makes the very startling statement that in many diseases the brain cells, although the person to all appearances is dead, may live for three or four hours after supposed death has taken place.

In the case of a healthy person being hanged, seeming death is not instantaneous at all. Organic motion is arrested, but real death is certainly not instantaneous. The brain cells are the last to die, and life is not really extinct until rigor mortis sets in, which, in the case of a healthy person dying suddenly, is protracted.

Now, when it is known that an ordinary cell lives after being removed from a living body, why, then, cannot the brain cells retain their life when the conditions immediately surrounding them are much the same as during their previous existence?

The head of a chicken was cut off, and after certain stimuli had been made it opened its mouth and gasped five minutes after its head had been decapitated from the body.

The head of a certain animal was cut off and found susceptible to light for many minutes after it was apparently dead. A strong electric light was held in front of the eyes and moved alternately near to and far away from them. The pupils of the eyes followed the light in its movements, expanding and contracting, that is to say, focusing themselves upon the light as it moved backward and forward. It was proved that the animal was capable of smelling by the use of certain pungent odors placed near the nasal organs—and all this because the brain cells were yet living.

Raising Ducks Without Water.

Ducks don't need water to thrive. There are many duck raising plants in this country where thousands of the fowls are bred each year for market and where ther is not even a puddle for them to flounder in. One of these farms is credited with an output of 20,000 ducks a year

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamerlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.—Adolph L Millett, Manchester, N H For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist

LARGE PROFITS IN APPLES.

Washington Farmers Reaping Golden Harvest From Fruit Crops.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 12—The farmers of Washington have transferred their allegiance to winter apples, for, while horticulturists elsewhere have generally experienced a bad year, they have just harvested the largest crop of winter apples ever grown in Washington. Great interest is centered in the results of this year's crop, since it has not been certain just what results would be obtained from fruit raising on an immense scale in this state.

Though fortunes have been made this year in peaches, pears and prunes, it is to winter-apples that the far-seeing horticulturist has decided to devote his chief attention. This is because the apples are better keepers and thus offer a wider range of market, insuring higher and more stable prices.

In the Sunnyside valley there are 20 acre farms which have brought in over $3,000 this fall from the sale of apples, pears, peaches and alfalfa hay. One of these is a place that has been rented since the sage brush was first turned under, six years ago.

It is results like these that are turning the attention of scores of farmers now coming here from the middle west to apple-raising on irrigated lands.

New settlers are coming into the Sunnyside district daily, and the irrigation company is already planning to extend its canal. This particular canal parallels the Northern Pacific Railway for 42 miles, and, with its 300 miles of branch canals and laterals, waters nearly 40,000 acres.

As it stands today the Sunnyside canal is the greatest irrigation enterprise in the northwest. It has been brought to its present great success by the land department of the Northern Pacific Railway, under the direction of Walter N. Granger. The object of the railway has been to demonstrate that irrigated land is the most profitable in the west, which fact is now firmly established.

Sugar beets grown in the Sunnyside valley have given phenomenal percentages of sugar juice, numerous analyses running as high as 21 per cent in sugar contents and 95 7 per cent. in purity. These results have directed the attention of beet sugar manufacturers in California, Nebraska and elsewhere, who have sent their experts into the country to report upon the feasibility of establishing sugar beet factories.

The fertility of the volcanic ash soil is further shown by the results obtained in Mr. Granger's garden of a quarter of an acre, with thirty kinds of vegetables, embracing a total of 75 varieties, were grown this year in sufficient quantities to supply the entire neighborhood. It is claimed that this quarter of an acre produced a greater quantity of vegetables than has ever before been grown on a similar area.

Turner's Almanac

Turner's North Carolina Almanac, 63d Edition, published by James H. Enniss, Raleigh, N. C., is on our table. Turner's Almanac is an old and established state institution, and because of its regularity is popularly styled the "Old Reliable." It is the standard of local astronomical time by which to set our clocks and watches; also as to all officers of our state government, salaries, etc., public works, penal, charitable and educational institutions, courts, members of congress, judges, solicitors, etc. It contains also many interesting facts and statistics of North Carolina, valuable for reference, and an annual state record of the most important events that have occurred during the year 1899, prominent and official persons who have died during the year, with household and medical receipts for the family, etc. It is a very useful publication, and commends itself to all our people. Price only 10 cents, and for sale by merchants, postmasters, druggists, etc., over the state, or by the publisher, J. H. Enniss, Raleigh, N C.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa

Capt. C G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Galishe. Under date of Nov. 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial."—For sale by C. A GIRL FULL OF NEEDLES.

Doctors Mystified Over This Human Pin Cushion.

Wilmington, Del., November 12—Eighty-seven ordinary sewing needles have been removed from the body of Hannah Reardon by Dr. Swiblin Chandler. The girl is employed as a housemaid by Mrs. J. M. Mather, of Madison street, and her case is attracting the attention of the local physicians, all of whom are taking a deep interest in the case.

The girl is about 19 years of age and weighs only 80 pounds. She is four feet three inches tall, and it is believed that the needles, which she swallowed when a child, retarded her growth. She came here from Ireland about two months ago.

Dr. Chandler says that before coming to this country, owing to her delicate health, the young woman had not done much work, and he thinks that bending and stooping while at work caused the needles to work to the surface of the body. Since the discovery of the strange condition Hannah has not been able to retain solid food on her stomach. The needles are, however, supposed to have been in her body for years.

C. E Holton, druggist, guarantees every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and will refund the money to any one who is not satisfied after using two-thirds of the contents. This is the best remedy in the world for la grippe, coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough and is pleasant and safe to take. It prevents any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia.

A fellow may have sand enough to propose to the modern girl, but he wants to go slow if he hasn't also got "rocks."

Not a Surprise.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

She Snubbed a Lord.

The New York "swagger" set received a breezy sensation recently when one of the choicest young heiresses on the Avenue married an American, who earns his own living; while on the same date went sailing homeward a distinguished little princeling whose yard-long title rumor said had been placed entirely at her disposal. "Bless me" exclaimed her self-made father

"THEY FELT HER UNMERCIFULLY."

facetiously, "If this sort of thing keeps on we'll all be Americanized!"

There is something about the air of this country which inclines our women to act independently. A girl may try to wrap up her womanly instincts beneath a cloak of fashionable vanity, but the little love gods find out the weak spots in her armor and pelt her unmercifully. If she is a true American, the chances are after all that nine times in ten she will marry the man she cares for. The vast majority of our young women seek no greater blessing than to be well-loved wives of strong-hearted men; and mothers of healthy, happy children.

The natural burdens of wifehood and motherhood have been amazingly lightened in the last thirty years. Advanced science has found a way to overcome the physical weakness of women and make them strong and capable of performing their wifely and motherly duties.

THE MODERN WOMAN'S OPPORTUNITY.

At the present day there is no need for any woman in this country to be weighed down and overburdened with physical weakness or disease. A woman suffering from any delicate ailment peculiar to her sex, no matter what the circumstances may be, may obtain such eminent professional advice and assistance as a queen could hardly command a generation ago. She can have all the advantages of that splendid American Institution, the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., with its staff of nearly twenty eminent specialists in the different branches of medical practice. At their head as chief consulting physician is Dr. R. V. Pierce, one of the most widely experienced physicians living. Any woman consulting him by mail and giving a careful statement of her case will receive sound professional advice and suggestion for home-treatment free of charge.

It is impossible to estimate the immense amount of suffering that weak and ailing women have been saved by Dr. Pierce's suggestions for home-treatment and the use of his matchless prescriptions. His "Favorite Prescription" has done more to promote the health and strength of women of our land than all other remedies combined. It is recognized throughout the world as the one greatest supportive tonic and special strengthener that has ever been devised for women.

It gives healing and power and endurance to the delicate special organism of women; imparts natural vitality and vigor to their entire nerve structure. It banishes abnormal and irregular conditions; stops unnatural drains; creates healthful capacity and stamina.

It prepares women for motherhood, carries them safely and comfortably through the ordeal; takes away all its dangers and nearly all its pain; promotes abundant, natural nourishment for the child and, through the favorable influence upon the mother, increases the little one's natural strength and hardihood.

Mrs. Betsey M. White, of Stoneycreek, Warren Co., N. Y., in a letter to Dr. Pierce says: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' has done wonders in our house. My son's wife had been for years a great sufferer; all broken down and very weak and nervous. She was troubled with all the pains and aches one so slender could endure. She took everything she heard of, hoping to get help, but in vain; so she tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it did wonders for her. The doctors said she could not live to have another child as she came near dying so many times. This spring she had a nice boy weighing eleven pounds; she got through before we could get any one there. I was afraid she would not live. We cried for joy when we saw how nicely she got along. May God bless you for the good you have done."

Book-keeping, Business and Ornamental Penmanship and Shorthand.

For Both Sexes.

READ CAREFULLY.

PROF. V. THEO. ELY,

(12 Years Experience in Teaching)

Graduate from Rochester Business University, Rochester, N. Y., will open up a select school in Both Double and Single Entry Book-keeping, Shorthand and Muscular Movement Business Writing, at the Brockmann School of Music Hall, beginning from 9 till 11 a. m., also a separate night school from 7:00 till 9:00 for those who cannot attend in day time. No extra tuition for combining both periods.

Monday, November 13, 1899,

Tuition in both writing and book-keeping combined, full course, $10.00; writing alone, strictly slant, $3.00. Payable at the expiration of the term.

Success is guaranteed to all who attend regularly and apply themselves, or no charge will be made for tuition.

Term will continue until completed, which requires from six to eight weeks.

If you ever expect to learn book-keeping or to write a good hand, now is your time.

No tuition is paid till the term closes, and the term does not close till all have finished the book-keeping course, and each student is his own judge as to when he knows it.

This fact should be taken as sufficient guarantee of safety and success. Let the pupils attend regularly and we will be responsible for the rest. NO LESSONS TO STUDY AT HOME.

Stationery for full book-keeping course, including writing material, etc., not over 80 cents. Writing material, etc., furnished at the hall.

Hall will be kept warm and comfortable.

Why You Should Attend This School:

Because for $10.00 you get the same identical course in book-keeping and penmanship that you would get at any commercial college at from $150 to $250. Because you complete the course before you pay tuition. Because every subject is taught from the blackboard without the use of a text book. Because every other branch except book-keeping and writing, is excluded, making it possible to complete the course in from six to eight weeks.

Because we, the undersigned pupils, have just finished Prof. Ely's course in book-keeping and writing at Nicholson's Hall, Union, S. C., and freely testify to the fact that truly he offers a chance of a lifetime to learn these important branches of business education;

A rich man died the other day. He died in the very midsummer of life, and he left his family $1,000,000. The doctor's certificate showed that death resulted from typhoid fever. The doctor himself said to a friend: "That man was a suicide. He had a splendid constitution. I could have pulled him through if his stomach had been sound. But he ruined his stomach by hasty meals, snatched in intervals of business and by neglect of symptoms which have been warning him a year past, that his stomach was failing in its duties."

The symptoms of a disordered condition of the stomach and the organs of digestion and nutrition are, among others, variable appetite, sour risings, heartburn, undue fullness after eating, dull headache, dingy complexion, discolored eye, fluctuations in physical strength, nervousness, sleeplessness, despondency. No one person will have all these symptoms at once, but any one of them calls for prompt aid for the suffering stomach.

The restoration of the stomach, digestive and nutritive organs to a condition of sound health, begins with the first dose of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The cure progresses from that dose until the functions of the stomach and its related organs are in healthy operation. Then the nerves are quiet, the appetite healthful, the sleep restful, the eye bright, the complexion clear. In one word the body is in a condition of perfect health.

"I was troubled with indigestion about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Juliaetta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to you and you told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought that it would kill me. Now I am glad to write this and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' cured me."

Don't let the dealer sell you a substitute, if you want a cure. Insist on having "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets surpass all complexion powders. They make the skin healthy and the complexion clear.

SHOT TWICE AT THE FAMILY.

Seven Dangerously Wounded—One Child Dead—Murderer Captured.

Caruthersville, Mo., Nov. 13—News reaches here of a distressing tragedy at a levee camp, below here. Charles Pearman [illegible] barrelled shot gun and fired both barrels into the tent, striking and dangerously wounding seven out of the family of nine. One small child was killed instantly, one has since died, and the mother is not expected to live. Pearman escaped across the Mississippi river and took refuge in the Tennessee forests. A posse followed and captured him, and he is now in jail here. Pearman is about 21 years old.

Ye cold winds blow, predicting snow:
All nature's sere and brown,
And now ye tramp doth strike his camp,
And cometh into town.

NEWS IN OLDEN DAYS.

CUSTOMS IN VOGUE BEFORE THE ERA OF NEWSPAPERS.

The Latter Trace Their Origin to Rome Long Before the Christian Era—The Paper That Was Published by Queen Elizabeth.

The germ of newspapers is found in ancient Rome. The government some two centuries previous to the Christian era is known to have promulgated its edicts by means of written papers affixed to pillars. Nor was there much difference between the style of these acta diurnia, as they were termed, and that which now prevails further than that the former were more brief and simple and deficient in introductory phrases and the editorial "we." They generally gave the news or occurrence in simply indicative sentences without introduction or comment of any kind.

Most of these acta which have been preserved are found to mention but one or two events. They are headed with the date in Roman fashion and the name of the then consul and paragraphs such as the following formed the staple: "It thundered, and an oak was struck with lightning on that part of Mount Palatine called Summa Vevia, early in the afternoon." "Murena, the consul, sacrificed early in the morning in the Temple of Castor and Pollux, and afterward assembled the senate in Pompey's senate house." "C. Cæsar set out for his government in farther Spain, having long been detained by his creditors."

It is hardly possible for us now, with all the lights of science around and the shoals of newspapers with which we are supplied, to form a proper notion of the darkness which, for want of these, involved the masses of the people for many centuries after the fall of the Roman empire. We are told that the crusaders were so ignorant of geography that at every town they approached in central Europe they inquired if it was Jerusalem. When they at length reached their destination, their exploits would have remained unknown for years to their relatives and friends at home had not at times some few straggling pilgrims found their way back to the west. Even bad news in those days could not, contrary to the proverb, travel fast. Every little community must then have lived much within itself.

It was not until the sixteenth century that anything at all approaching even to the scanty Roman acta diurnia can be found to have revived in the modern world. The war which the Venetian republic waged against the Turks gave rise in 1568 to the custom of communicating the military and commercial information in Venice by written sheets, notizie scritte, to be read in a particular place to those desirous of hearing the news, who paid for this privilege with a coin no longer in use, called gazzetta, a name which came in time to be applied to the news sheet itself both in Italy and France and subsequently in England, when this mode of imparting news came into use.

The Venetian government eventually gave these announcements in a regular manner once a month, but they were too jealous to allow them to be printed. Only a few written copies were transmitted to such as subscribed and paid for them. Thirty volumes of these valuable manuscript newspapers exist in the Maglia Bechian library at Florence. About the same time advertising wants commenced, the father of Montaigne, the celebrated essayist, being credited with the suggestion for making the wants of individuals known to the public in France. These were received at offices established for the purpose and were first posted on the walls of public places, receiving the names of affiches. In time this led to a systematic and periodic publication in sheets. These were termed affiches in consequence of their contents being originally fixed up as placards, though the word itself is French for advertisement.

It is to England as represented by Queen Elizabeth that the honor of commencing printed sheets of public intelligence is to be ascribed. When the Spanish armada threatened an invasion of this country, that sage queen, remarking the disadvantage of the vague and alarming rumors which circulated everywhere, resolved to inform her people truly of the impending dangers. She began to publish from time to time a sheet bearing the following title "The English Mercuire, published by authoritie, for the contradiction of false reports." Of this publication three copies are preserved in the British museum, the earliest, No. 50, bearing date July 23, 1588. The first article, dated from Whitehall, contains advices from Sir Francis Walsingham that the armada was seen in the channel, making for the entrance, with a favorable gale. An account is then given of her majesty's fleet, which consisted of 80 sail, divided into four squadrons, commanded by the lord high admiral, in the Ark Royal, Sir Francis Drake and Admirals Hawkins and Frobisher. Under the head, "London," there is an account of an interview which the mayor and corporation had on the previous day with her majesty, for the purpose of assuring her of the resolution to stand by her with their lives and fortunes to the last. Under the same head appears the following paragraph: "Yesterday the Scotch ambassador had a private audience of her majestie, and delivered a letter containing the most cordial assurances of adhering to her majestie's interests, and to those of the Protestant religion, and the younge king, James VIth, said to her majestie's minister at his court that all the favour he expected of the Spaniards was the courtesie of Polyphemus to Ulysses, that he should be devoured to the last." We wonder what would be thought of embassadors in these days if they interlarded their oral communications with such classical references!

NAVY MUST HAVE ITS ARMOR.

Secretary Long Says Haggling Over Price is Disastrous.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 12—Secretary of the Navy Long passed through Pittsburg on the Pennsylvania Railroad with his daughter Helen this evening. They are going to Colorado, where Miss Long will remain for her health.

Secretary Long spoke freely on the armor plate question. He said that one of the first questions congress will have to take up when it convenes will be that of the price of armor plate. He said that the government must have the plates for the war ships building and built and delays cannot be tolerated longer.

He fears that the shortage in steel may prevent as prompt deliveries of plate as might have been made if restrictions had not been put on his department by Congress in fixing the price. The armor plate-making companies may also ask a higher price than they did formerly, owing to the advance in labor and material, and Secretary Long intimated congress will have to give the government free rein in the future.

The Poet Burns,

Not the least of the advantages attending life assurance is the serenity of mind which attends the provident man lying on a bed of sickness, or when he is in prospect of death—so unlike that painful anxiety for the future welfare of the family not provided for. The poet Burns, in writing to a friend a few days before his death, said that he was "still the victim of affliction. Alas! Clark, I begin to fear the worst. Burns' poor widow and a half a dozen of his dear little ones, helpless orphans; there, I am weak as a woman's tear. Enough of this, 'tis half of my disease!"

"If you would escape the rock upon which the lamented Burns split;" take shelter from the storm that is bound to spend its fury upon you when the fatal summons comes, by at once securing the magnetic contract offered by the Provident Savings.

Big Work at High Shoals.

The High Shoals Manufacturing Company is pushing the work of building their new cotton factory. The mill now under construction will have a capacity of 10,000 spindles and will be completed by January 1st, when another mill of the same capacity will be begun, then a third mill, and so on until the magnificent power will be utilized.

The company has a capital stock of $1,500,000. The largest stockholders are the D. A. Tompkins Company, of Charlotte, and the great Westinghouse concern. Three hundred and twenty-five hands are now at work, and this number will be increased to 400.

One of the plants to be erected by the company, after the power has been fully developed, is an electrical plant to generate power for transmission to the mills and towns around. This, however, will not be undertaken until the shoals have been thoroughly tested and developed.—Lincoln Journal.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphi, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"it soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store; every bottle guaranteed.

Blobbs—"I thought Slowboy was too lazy to run into debt." Slobbs—He says he was pushed in."

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows; "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides; no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters: and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

DYSPEPSIA

"My wife suffered for many years from Nervous Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Sleeplessness and Nervous Debility," writes John Kelloes, Philadelphia. "We tried many physicians and numerous remedies, but with no results, until I heard of Johnson's Dyspepsia Cure. We bought six boxes, and the results far surpassed our expectations. She now eats and sleeps well, is gaining in flesh, and her color, which had got to be yellow and sickly, is now as fresh as when we were first married, and I tell her that Johnson's Dyspepsia Cure has made her ten years younger."

"ACRES OF DIAMONDS."

The Conwell Lecture Last Night at the State Normal.

The second number of the Normal Entertainment Course was a lecture by the Rev Russell H Conwell, pastor of the Baptist Temple of Philadelphia and president of the Temple College. on "Acres of Diamonds," or "Where to Get Rich and Become Great." It was largely attended by the people of Greensboro and surrounding towns.

Seldom have we had the pleasure of hearing so talented and eloquent an orator He was frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause. The lecture was full of wholesome advice and practical suggestions. Interspersed with anecdotes and occasional flights of eloquence.

The key note of the lecture was the golden opportunity, the grasping of which means our success in life. Mr. Conwell, in his simple, strong, yet convincing style, pointed out how fortunes were to be had simply for the taking, if we would only use the means at our own doors, and how each young man here in Greensboro has "Acres of Diamonds" within easy reach without having to leave home to find them. He showed how Greensboro has sources of wealth that would make many a poor boy a millionaire if he would content himself with small beginnings and build his fortune as he became able to handle it.

Perhaps Mr. Conwell's truest statement was that the world pays a man just as much as he is worth to it. If he makes only one thousand dollars in ten years it is because he has given to the world only one thousand dollars worth of brains and heart in that length of time.

Mr. Conwell's life and every energy is wholly given to the work in his church and his college. The proceeds from all his lectures is wholly devoted to the benevolent work of educating poor boys. Mr. Conwell is financially a poor man.

Frightened Reubens.

Three farmers from the eastern part of the county, who reached this city about dusk last evening, reported to the police that as they passed near Holt's chapel, two miles from here, three negro bicyclists met them and pointed pistols at them for the purpose of robbery. Chief Scott says this is undoubtedly a mistake; that he drove out near Holt s chapel late yesterday evening and met these farmers, and says he is fully satisfied that the trouble was caused by the refusal of the countrymen to give away roadway to the negroes on wheels. They admit that they do not have any love for a person who can ride a bicycle.

There's luck in odd numbers as long as a fellow looks out for number one.

SHOOTING STARS.

Meteoric Showers Scheduled for Tonight and Tomorrow Night.

The earth rushes through a meteoric stream tonight and tomorrow night, and the showers will be such as have not been seen before since 1866, nor will be witnessed again for 33 years.

The advance guard of the meteoric showers may appear early tonight, but the great shower—the meteoric display—is expected from midnight until dawn on the morning of the 15th. The moonlight will detract from the brilliancy of the display, but the sight will be worth the trouble taken to witness it.

The great fall of meteors in 1833, as the oldest inhabitants recall, caused great consternation among the negroes. In some places the shower lasted six or seven hours.

Those wishing to see the display must have a view of the northeastern skies, near the horizon. This year's display is expected to be equally as brilliant as those of 1833 and 1866.

One of our reliable citizens says he did not retire last night, hoping to see the grand display, but was doomed to disappointment, for there were no shooting stars to be seen. He stated that he would also watch for the shower tonight.

Our "Foot-Form" Shoes

For men, ladies and children are the latest triumph of the shoemaker's art. Built on our new ideas, which combine style, comfort, fit and wearing qualities never before found in shoes at the price. They are made on lasts such as nature intended. GREENSBORO'S MAIL MATTER.

It Weighed 11,076 Pounds During the Month of October.

Beginning at midnight of October 2nd all the postoffices of the United States were required to weigh every particle of mail deposited in the office. This was kept up for thirty-five days, and meant an immense amount of work for all offices. At the end of that time reports were sent to Washington of the amount of matter handled at each office, and there a daily average will be made.

The report sent from the Greensboro postoffice is interesting in several particulars:

1. It shows an immense amount of business done here.

2 The increase of business within the past two years has been very great.

3. The newspapers sent away from here amount to over half of the mail handled.

4. The government free matter is an immense amount of mail that goes through the Greensboro office of which no record appears in the receipts.

The totals of the month's report in detail is as follows:

Total for the month (all classes of matter) 11,076 pounds.

First class matter (letters) 2,115.

Second class matter (newspapers) 6,179.

Third and fourth class matter (packages and merchandise) 1,546.

Government free matter, 311.

Equipment (pouches, sacks, etc) 923

It was first reported that the object in weighing the mail was to be able to gauge the amount of money that the government should pay to the railroads for transportation. Railroad mails are weighed every four years in all states.

According to the instructions sent out from the postoffice department at Washington the object of the weighing is three-fold: "First, to find out the total amount of mail matter of all classes handled in twenty-four hours at each office in the United States. Second, the amount forwarded from each office by railroad trains during the twenty-four hours. Third, the amount of equipments necessary in order to handle this mail.

This is the first time the mail has ever been weighed this way.

The Man for the Occasion.
